BOB ON BINGO

By Bob Whittmore

The Worst Bingo Hall of All

As most of you know, during the past nearly quarter of a century you and I have been meeting like this...on the pages of the Bingo Bugle...I have tried to be a crusader for the average Bingo player. I have taken on the big casinos and big halls and stupid rules and, years ago, SMOKING.

I think I have been as fair as I could be and have gotten a ton of nice emails at bingo@earthlink.net.

But, in some of my recent columns I have spewed a lot of criticism at some mistakes and problems I have been finding, as I have traveled and continued to read your emails. This month, a look at the lousiest Bingo hall I have ever found.

This hall was suggested to me as a "great place" to play "Saturday Bingo." It's about an hour's drive from here, but I found the little city—nestled along a winding spot in the White River. I remembered as I passed the county courthouse that, years and years ago, my grandfather had worked there in the County Recorder's Office. But, alas, that was a verrrrry long time ago.

I found the Bingo hall on a side street. It was a charity Bingo, run by a local civic club. The hall was easy to find, but a very confusing place to play. Here is why.

First, there were no rules posted and no indication of the prices of the games. And when I finally got my cards and sat down to play, none of the games that were being played matched the line-up on the factsheet I was given.

Second, there apparently were far too many ways to score a Bingo, though none of these was listed.

It would appear that frequent visitors there KNEW what was going on—despite the fact that many things had changed since the original fact sheets were printed. They expected that I—a newcomer—would know all of that stuff (!). I was even criticized when I brought my concerns to the caller.

Thirdly, the sellers of the side games (the pull-tabs) were so loud they intruded on the game, which was called by a very soft-spoken caller speaking over a puny sound system.

For a while I could not figure of if it was a Bingo hall with side games, or gambling hall where a very quiet and very confusing Bingo game was attempting to be held at the same time as the "pull tab circus" that was going on.

No, I never went back. But, just a week after my encounter at that hall, a friend of mine went there and won $1,000 on a cover-all. When he told me about his winnings he said: "See, that place isn't really that bad....is it?"

Thanksgiving in September

"Fall: ladies know it as that beautiful time of year between boob sweat and frost bite." —Pinterest.com

Sunday, September 22nd is the first day of Fall; goodbye and good riddance to summer. I will be celebrating that, as well as my older brother, David, who's turning 81. He's a bit of a curmudgeon but has staunchly defended me since childhood when we teamed up against our younger brother, Richard. We would leave Ritchie in tears when he wanted to accompany us on one of our adventures, but we thought he was too little to keep up. And besides that, he'd rat us out to our parents when we were being naughty.

David loves bingo and casinos as much as I do, and we've had many joint gambling adventures. In Vegas my husband would go to bed early while David and I pulled all-nighters, pounding the slots and video poker. We're too old to do that now and we all go to bed with the chickens, or in my case, Robert the old rooster as I call my husband, lol.

Virgo is the birth sign for some born in September and their horoscope declares this to be their fortunate month; bringing good luck and favorable circumstances with them being in the right place at the right time to achieve abundant good fortune. So, Virgos, go, go, go to bingo and win, win, win. Additionally, I suggest you wear red and green to maximize your good luck as I've done for years because these colors summon good luck. However, as my loyal readers know, I endure long losing streaks no matter what I wear, but I continue to believe that someday I will win the BIG one. Hope springs eternal.

Bet you didn't know that September is Chicken Month with each average American eating 83 pounds of chicken per year. That reminds me of my grandma who lived with us during my childhood and took care of our chickens. As the two naughty children we were, David and I would grab one of grandma's chickens and hypnotize it. That involved laying the chicken on its back and waving our fingers in front of its eyes causing it to pass out. We now realize how wrong that was, but in our defense, the chicken wasn't hurt. It would come to itself, get up, and stagger around like a drunken sailor causing us to laugh hysterically, unlike grandma, who saw no humor in it at all. She would holler like the dickens at us, our parents would join in the cacophony, and little brother Richard, like the rat he was in those days, would smile with glee that we were in trouble. He has since reformed and David and I love him dearly.

Happy Thanksgiving on September 24th if you're a Schwenkfelder. Schwenkfelders were German Protestants who relocated to Philadelphia and first observed Thanksgiving in September 1734. No crops had been planted so they thanked God with water, bread, butter, and apple butter. Schwenkfelder Thanksgiving is the oldest Thanksgiving event continuously observed in America. Our traditional Pilgrim Thanksgiving, November 1621, was not observed regularly and in fact was not a popular practice until President Lincoln made it a national holiday in 1863.

Until next month, may Lady Luck blow you kisses as you dance out the door with dollars. Win big. And take your grandparents out to dinner and to play bingo on September 8, it's Grandparent's Day. Contact: nlpvzw6172@gmail.com

NEWS FROM THE REAL WORLD & CYBERSPACE

A Cowboy-Bingo Experience

Embracing the recent "Cowboy Core" trend, Mecca Bingo is adding a new spin to its U.K. clubs with the launch of free line dancing classes. Designed to cater to the rising interest in cowboy-related activities among Brits, these classes offer bingo enthusiasts a way to celebrate their winning lines by dancing them out. The initiative comes at a time when 32% of Brits are keen to explore the so-called "Cowboy Core" trend, evident in the 129% surge in Google searches for "line dancing" since the beginning of 2024. With country-inspired albums soaring to the top of the charts and cowboy-themed fashion making waves globally, the fascination with the Wild West has officially reached the shores of Britain. In an attempt to lead the charge, Mecca Bingo is tapping into this trend by offering "Line to Win" dance classes, where players can enjoy line dancing sessions alongside their bingo games.

Down Under Bingo Improvement Underway

The Victorian Gambling and Casino Control Commission (VGCCC) has announced an inquiry into the regulation of bingo, aiming to foster a fairer, more modern landscape for the game. Bingo generates significant revenue, with reported earnings of AU$107m ($71m) in FY23. It also allocates a portion of its proceeds to fund charities. Fran Thorn, Chair of the Commission, stated: "In recent years, the commercial bingo landscape has modernized, transitioning from traditional paper-based gameplay to electronic enhancements with substantial jackpots. Given this evolution, it is crucial for us to assess and address issues of fairness, integrity and the potential for gambling harm." The VGCCC has invited all interested parties, including customers, industry participants and community organizations to participate in the inquiry.

Bingo Event Boosts Charity

The Kids-N-Hope Foundation of Philadelphia, Illinois raised around $11,500 during their summer Purse and Power Tool Bingo event, where 160 attendees enjoyed a night of bingo, raffles, and time with friends and family all while supporting the Foundation's mission to fund music therapy programs and other child-related services. The Kids-N-Hope Foundation was organized by American Heritage Credit Union in 1996 and has since distributed more than $3.8 million dollars through its fundraising efforts.

A Trip Down Memory Lane

Later in the summer we decided to make a day trip to the tiny village we had lived in for six months when I was seven. It was not a lovely, picturesque place, but a highway village where cars went tearing through without thought of the people whose lives they endangered. We went around slowly, looking at all the buildings, many pretty much unchanged from when we lived there.

We came across the building where the villagers played Bingo on Saturday nights. I remembered it well. The funny cards with bowls of beans to cover the numbers called. I thought about an old timer telling of the time they had no beans to play with. One of the participants had taken them to feed her family. It was a sad story of hard times.

We found the little house we used to live in, and I knocked at the door. No one answered and I said, "I want to go in back and sit in the swing."

This accomplished, I remembered the old well we used to have. The musical strains of The Old Oaken Bucket came into my head and I moved back to the very end of the lot to see if it was still there. It had been boarded-over but the bucket remained and I enjoyed running my hands over its mossy sides.

Just then there was a furious barking, a little terrier came tearing around the corner of the house, followed by a woman who wanted to know what we thought we were doing in her back yard.

I apologized profusely, saying we had once lived in the house and had wanted to visit the backyard one more time. "Oh, well, I guess that is all right," she said, backing down once she realized we were not monsters or muggers. "You just sit," she said, "and I will fetch us some lemonade."

"When we lived here the only entertainment was Bingo on Saturday nights," I said.

"That is still true," said the lady. "We will be playing tonight. Why don't you come with me?"

So that is how we ended our day playing Bingo—no longer with beans but daubers. I found the games rather challenging, but fun. Many "on the way" games followed by blackouts, which Kate particularly enjoys.

She was lucky that evening and won twice in the first half. Then it was intermission time. It was the same old building where we played as children and I happily went around looking at the old pictures, one of a U.S. flag I particularly liked. "You are such a sentimentalist," growled Kate, "always looking for something nostalgic."

"I really love our flag," I replied, "and I particularly like the folds in this one."

Back to Bingo, I still had my bad luck dogging me, but Kate was doing well. She won an on the way game and then the blackout that followed. And while it may have been a very lucky day in the old berg, we took the winnings, drove out of town and didn't look back.

1. Who released "(Your Love Keeps Lifting Me) Higher and Higher"?
2. Name the group that released "This Old Heart of Mine."
3. Which artist released "Rock With You"?
4. Name the first No. 1 song released by Dire Straits.
5. Name the song that contains this lyric: "Once I thought my innocence was gone, Now I know that happiness goes on."

ANSWERS

1. Jackie Wilson, in 1967. The songwriter objected to how it was being sung, but Jackie Wilson stepped up and recorded the vocals in one take. It went to No. 1 on the R&B chart.
2. The Isley Brothers, in 1966. The song was used in the television show Moonlighting in the 1980s, starring Bruce Willis and Cybill Shepherd, and was included on the soundtrack album.
3. Michael Jackson, in 1979. The song was released on his Off the Wall album.
4. "Private Investigations," in 1982, in the Netherlands. There was no No. 1 in the U.S. until 1985 with "Money for Nothing."
5. "The Longest Time," by Billy Joel in 1984. Originally written for a vocal group, Joel ended up doing all the parts himself. The song went to No. 1 on the Adult Contemporary chart but only No. 14 on the Hot 100.

* "Sunburn can be soothed with plain vinegar. For the back, arms or legs, soak a washcloth in room temperature vinegar and lay it on the affected area for 15 minutes, then rinse. For the face, soak a cotton ball and lightly dab on burned areas." — I.E. in California

* "Bug bites can be treated with banana peel. Use a small piece of the peel laid white side down over the bite. Secure with a Band-Aid. Leave on at least 5 minutes. This works especially well for my kids, who seem to think it's fun." — W.S. in Alabama

* "Old farm trick: I keep a spray bottle of rubbing alcohol mixed with water on my garden cart. If I think I got into some poison ivy, I spray the skin area pretty thoroughly with the alcohol. It's the oil that spreads the rash, and the alcohol stops it from spreading pretty well." — J.J. in Florida

* Lush lips and lovely nailbeds are only as far away as your pantry. Use olive oil applied directly to lips and nails to moisturize.

* "Duct tape remedy for warts: Cover wart completely with duct tape. Leave it on for six days. On day seven, remove the tape, soak the wart and use a pumice stone or emery board to rub the dead skin off. Repeat until it's gone. No chemicals, and it takes about the same amount of time to work as expensive medicines you buy at the drugstore." — H.V. in Virginia
